

Go Away, Go Out and Leave Exercise

• go away - leave your area	We're going away at Easter
• go out - to the cinema or to the shops	We didn't go out last Saturday
• leave - depart	I left the meeting at seven

A Fill the gaps with go away, go out or leave in the correct form.

- 1 I don't much in the week.
- 2 We won't be around at Christmas because we're
- 3 I the office at about eight yesterday and went straight home.
- 4 I've got exams next week so I won't be this weekend.
- 5 Hurry up, slow coach. Our train in 45 minutes.
- 6 I won't be going out this weekend because I'm
- 7 What time do you home for work in the morning?
- 8 A: Can I speak to Rosana, please?
B: I'm afraid she's
- 9 A: Can I speak to Brad, please?
B: I'm sorry. He's for the weekend.
- 10 We've got time for an early lunch. My flight doesn't until half four.
- 11 In Madrid, people often stay in at the weekend but in the week.

B These verbs have other meanings (as usual!!!) Fill the gaps with go away, go out or leave in the correct form.

- 1, fly, or I'll kill you.
- 2 Penelope has Michael for another man.
- 3 Oh no! The lights have

C Now make up some examples of your own.

- 1
- 2
- 3
- 4

Answers

A

- 1 I don't go out much in the week.
- 2 We won't be around at Christmas because we're going away.
- 3 I left the office at about eight yesterday and went straight home.
- 4 I've got exams next week so I won't be going out this weekend.
- 5 Hurry up, slow coach. Our train leaves in 45 minutes.
- 6 I won't be going out this weekend because I'm going away.
- 7 What time do you leave home for work in the morning?
- 8 A: Can I speak to Rosana, please?
B: I'm afraid she's gone out.
- 9 A: Can I speak to Brad, please?
B: I'm sorry. He's gone away for the weekend.
- 10 We've got time for an early lunch. My flight doesn't leave until half four.
- 11 In Madrid, people often stay in at the weekend but go out in the week.

B

- 1 Go away, fly, or I'll kill you.
- 2 Penelope has left Michael for another man.
- 3 Oh no! The lights have gone out.

